Child of His Brain, Reared

Former Head of Corporation Tells Why It Was Given Existence.

New York, August 4.—Charles M. Schwab, now a competitor of the United States Steel Corporation, to-day revealed that corporation before the House committee of inquiry as the child of his own brain, reared by J. Fierpont Morgan, with the acquiescence, since regretted, of Andrew Carnegie.

Mr. Schwab pictured the Steel Corporation as a legal organization, not formed to curtail output, restrict competition or maintain prices, but to develop the steel industry of America.

The witness denied that the recent Brussels conference of the steel manufacturers of the world from which he returned recently had anything to do with the fixing of prices.

"I want to assure you." he said, "that at no time was the question of price or division of business territory even mentioned. We were, to tell the exact truth, it seems to me, to have a good time."

In actual time, a very strict record of which has been kept, the work has required sixty-four working days throughout the year, and has kept in employment during that time thirty people, as readers, clippers, sorters, mounters and binders. Every newspaper of importance is represented. This is merely a specimen of some of the unique orders which get into the Burrelle Bureau, for the extent to which clippings are used by individuals and by busilesse concerns seems to be remarkable.

There are many people in private as well as in public life who need press clippings and don't know it. It might be well for them to look up this man Burrelle, who is sald to be so well known that a letter simply addressed "Burrelle, New York," will reach him with no delay.

The Wonderful Woman who "made Napoleon" had many strange experiences in love. These, and other facts concerning her stirring life, are of especial interest at this time owing to the battle being waged in Paris over certain relics, which were supposed to have belonged to Josephine and have now been declared spurious. Her love affairs are told in an article by Deshler Welch in the Illustrated Sunday Magazine on behalf of the committee.

The committee said the practice of hurrying accused men from one State

The condemnation of "jury shadowing" was based upon the committee's discovery that in important cases the Department of Justice authorized the surveillance of jurymen to prevent their being tampered with. The committee in this final report condemned the practice of the government even though it be by the defense, because it is "liable to great abuse."

The committee's comment on irregular extraditions was evidently based on the course pursued in removing Moyer and Haywood from Colorado of Idaho on the charge of murdering Governor Steunenberg, and in getting McNamara from Indiana on the charge of destroying the Los Angeles Times building, but neither instance is specifically mentioned.

The report was signed by all the members of the committee. Senator Borah, who presented it, was counselfor the prosecution in the Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone cases in Idaho, who were "Kidnapped" in Colorado and taken to Idaho for trial on the charge of murdering Governor Steunenberg.

"The people in m? State want to be heard on the cotton schedule," said Mr. Overman. "They want to see a fair revision of the cotton schedule, but four days is not sufficient time to hold hearings."

Senator Martin declared that the House committee had considered the cotton schedule carefully and he thought it ought to be acted on speedily.

"I do not believe it necessary to have further hearings," said Senator Martin.
